

August 2019 Mile High Flight Update

We prepare to begin again!

- The MHF “Crew” is about to begin once again to make in person visits to several Denver – Metro area schools, as we start the selection process for the 2019 – 2020 MHF year. Supported by our new website: MileHighFlight.org, we anticipate a much more streamlined process. Interested students are now able to read about our program, apply for membership online and easily link to the chapter’s colorado-redtails.com website.
- We look forward to our 2019 – 2020 kickoff event at the Wings Over The Rockies Air & Space Museum on 19 October @ 12:00. We’re excited to introduce our new group of students to the chapter.
- As we continue to strive to increase our reach, we’re proud to announce that MHF “Crewmember” Stephan Rocha was just selected by the ALPA (Airline Pilot’s Association) Education Committee to serve as the liaison to his alma mater, Embry-Riddle University. Stephen’s close connections to ERU will continue to benefit our students who are interested in attending one of the best civilian aviation universities in the world.
- 2008 MHF solo student Travis Scott gave a welcomed Facebook shout-out to the MHF Crew: “11 years ago today, my parents had to drive me to Centennial Airport so that I could fly a plane by myself. Thanks, Mile High Flight Program!”
- Captain Darryl Searuggs continues to build our relationship with the Vickers Boys & Girls Club.

Casey Irving, one of our first solo flight students, returned to Denver for a short visit with family. While here, at the top of his list was to do something with the MHF program. As luck would have it, we were scheduled to meet the Vickers students, and Casey volunteered to be our featured speaker. Casey held their full attention, as he shared his formula for success and his experiences as an entrepreneur and aerospace engineer.

Your Mile High Flight program continues to make a difference.

Respectfully,

The MHF “Crew”
